Reading materials are available via the Library e-Reserve Collection at <http://opac.library.usyd.edu.au/search/r>. Course outlines, handouts and important announcements may be available via the Web Course Tools (WebCT) site for each unit. WebCT sites are generally accessible on the first day of classes (Session 1 & 2 units). Candidates enrolled in intensive units will be notified of the availability of the WebCT site via their USyd email address. Reading materials are normally available approximately 2 to 3 weeks prior to the commencement of a unit and may be collected from the Law School Information Desk. In-house course notes are free of charge to enrolled candidates. To view a list of reading materials currently available, please visit www.law.usyd.edu.au/cstudent/coursework/reading_materials.shtml. Cross-institutional and non-degree candidates will be placed on a waiting list and permitted to enrol should a place become available. It is strongly recommended that candidates finalise their enrolment in units of study as soon as possible to avoid disappointment.
